Press Release: Greater Vancouver Bird Week, October 3-10, 2020

Birding - Vancouver’s fastest growing hobby - gets a boost with online webinars, bird walks, and exhibitions across the Lower Mainland.

[VANCOUVER, BC] Greater Vancouver Bird Week is back for more feathery fun! This week-long, regional event running October 3-10, 2020, features bird walks, online webinars, workshops, and other activities led collaboratively by bird enthusiasts from organizations across the region. Explore your new pandemic hobby or deepen a longtime appreciation. No matter your experience level – from expert bird nerd to casually curious - there is sure to be something for a birder to enjoy!

This year’s program includes an online panel discussion, Birding Bright: Exploring Responsible Birding, that will look at what it means to be a responsible bird lover by exploring topics like bird photography, bird-friendly design, and citizen science. For those looking for something outdoors, the Come Birding with Us! series invites members of diverse audiences to join a guided bird walk. These walks are open to everyone and welcome members of the LGBTQ+ community, women, birders of colour, Mandarin and Cantonese speakers, and youth.

Rob Butler, Chair of the Vancouver Bird Advisory Committee, says, “Spending time in nature is good for everyone and birding is a great way to reconnect with the natural world. Vancouver is fortunate to be on the doorstep of Canada’s premier birding hotspot. Bird Week is our way of helping everyone become...
Vancouver Bird Week is a week-long series of events to celebrate Vancouver’s birds. It was inspired by World Migratory Bird Day, a United Nations-sponsored initiative that recognizes the importance of birds as key indicators of our environment’s health. The goals and themes of Bird Week align with the Vancouver Bird Strategy to create conditions that enable native birds to thrive in our city while providing Vancouverites access to birds in every neighbourhood and park, and attracting visitors from around the world.
